Fulfilling the International Perspective Requirement Through an Education Abroad Virtual Internship

Ways of Obtaining International Perspective Fulfillment

Under normal circumstances BGSU's International Perspective requirement can be fulfilled in one of the three following ways: through the completion of a currently-approved International Perspective course; through a study abroad experience in which the student earns three or more credits; or through international military service of at least 30 consecutive or 60 non-consecutive days. However, at the current time it also is possible for students to appeal to use an Education Abroad Virtual Internship for International Perspective fulfillment.

How to Appeal for Fulfillment of the International Perspective Requirement Through an Education Abroad Virtual Internship

Important: Receiving International Perspective fulfillment for an Education Abroad Virtual Internship is not automatic. Fulfillment of the requirement in this way is dependent upon a satisfactory result in a BG Perspective review process following the completion of the internship. Approval is based on the degree to which students can reflect upon their virtual internship to show how it helped them achieve BGSU's International Perspective learning outcomes.

To show how a virtual internship helped you to achieve BGSU's International Perspective learning outcomes, you should complete the appeal form that follows this page and email it to Donna Nelson-Beene, Director of BG Perspective. Following the review process, you will be contacted regarding the outcome.
