Insurance and Risk Management Institute

The mission of the Insurance & Risk Management Institute (IRMI) at Bowling Green State University is to build collaborative relationships with insurance corporations, insurance professionals, and trade associations to promote excellence in insurance and risk management education, practice and research. Through collaborative partnerships with the insurance industry, IRMI aims to establish, cultivate and steward educational and professional networks that will provide the industry access to our talented and well-trained insurance students.

Member contributions will help build awareness of career opportunities in the insurance industry among students and ensure the availability of a highly trained workforce to meet growing insurance industry needs. Contributions will also fund students' scholarships and awards as well as support IRMI's events and activities.
