Nominator: Roger Heminger Phone Number: 419-372-7696

Email: Rheminger@BGSU.EDU Date: 1-27-2000

Sheri Messaros is a real asset to Mileti.

Her willingness to always be here when she is needed as well as always being early for work AND with a smile on her face is a true BGSU employee.

She is always willing to help her fellow workers with problems or tasks and is always ready to listen and add solutions that are always right on. People always look to her for help and solutions.

Her job is always done on time and always very conscious of deadlines, and meets them with ease. Sheri this past year has taken on many additional tasks and did so willingly. Always ready to admit is a mistake was made...(which almost never happens) but owns it and fixes whatever it might be.

With many personal struggles this past year...one would never know it by her actions and attitude. Never brings her problems to work and has a smile on her face.

With her attitude, her willingness to help, and her attendance...I cannot think of another person that is more deserving of this award.

Sandy Stoots-Spirit of BG Nomination

Sandy is an excellent employee who always goes above and beyond at work. She is the fulltime admin for 5 Directors of Development while also doing support work for Prospect Research and senior management. Her workload is significant and she still manages to be incredibly organized and proactive in her work. Sandy continues to look for ways to improve upon and document processes and thus has found ways to make the whole office run more efficiently. She alleviates stress for all those she supports and should be recognized for her excellent work ethic and job performance.

-Karly DeGroot, Director of Development

Problem solver. Strong work ethic. Dedicated Teammate. These are just a few of the phrases we use to describe Sandy, who provides support to five development officers, a research team and leadership. Sandy goes above and beyond every day and thinks outside of the box to solve issues before they become problems. She juggles both long-term and short-term projects while being responsive to the varying needs and communications of all of those she supports. Many of those she supports work remotely or are "on the road" frequently, requiring even more support from Sandy. She does so without complaint and with greater efficiency and care. Simply put, Sandy is the glue that holds our team together. Sandy is most deserving of this honor.

-Jordan Cravens, Director of Development

Sandy Stoots is a proactive, capable, organized administrative assistant that persistently seeks to identify opportunities to help her directors succeed. She spends her days focused on efficiently completing an extensive and diverse list of duties while effectively prioritizes and reprioritizing the needs of her many directors. She possesses the rare ability to remain flexible under pressure, responding to new and difficult tasks with grit and tenacity. In addition to the near flawless execution of her duties, Sandy has shown the capacity to stretch beyond the required and chooses to add value in other areas, far exceeding reasonable expectations. Sandy's combination of discipline, skill, competency and compassion is unmatched among those that I have worked with in my career.

-Ken McIntyre Jr., Director of Gift Planning
