THE ADVANTAGE OF VOLUNTARY BENEFITS

Employee findings from the 2015 Aflac WorkForces Report showed:

88% agree\(^1\) that voluntary benefits are a part of a comprehensive benefits program.

64% see a growing need for voluntary insurance benefits compared to years past.

70% of those without access to voluntary benefits say they would be likely\(^2\) to purchase voluntary benefits if their employer offered them.

Employees enrolled in voluntary benefits are:

31% more likely to be extremely or very satisfied with their benefits packages than those who aren’t offered the benefits by their employers and 26% more likely to say their benefits meet their families’ needs extremely or very well.

41% more likely to say they’re taking full advantage of their employee benefits than employees who aren’t offered the benefits by their employers.

\(^1\)Includes completely, strongly and somewhat agree.
\(^2\)Includes extremely, very and somewhat likely.