Inquiry | Lawful | Unlawful

| Disability | Inquiries necessary to determine applicant’s ability to substantially perform a specific job without significant hazard. | A. Any inquiry into past or current medical conditions.
B. Any inquiry into Workers’ Compensation or similar claims. |
| Work Schedules | Inquiry into the job applicant’s willingness to work a required schedule. | Any inquiry into the job applicant’s willingness to work any particular religious holidays. |
| References | General, personal and work references which do not reveal the race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, ancestry or age of the applicant. | Request references specifically from clergymen or any other persons that might reflect the race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, ancestry or age of the applicant. |
| Organizations | Inquiry into membership in organizations excluding those which reveal the race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, ancestry or age of its members. | Inquiry into every club and organization where membership is held. |
| OTHER | Any questions required to reveal qualifications for the job to which the applicant applied. | Any non-job related inquiry which may elicit information concerning race, color, religion, sex national origin, handicap, age or ancestry of applicant for employment or membership. |
It is illegal for employers, labor unions or employment agencies to discriminate against persons because of their race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or ancestry. Under the Law, employers are prohibited from eliciting information from applicants, prior to employment, which would indicate the applicant’s race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, ancestry or military status unless the employer is required to elicit such information pursuant to a bona fide Affirmative Action program or under order from a state, federal or local FEP agency.

This brochure is not a complete definition of what can and cannot be asked of applicants. It attempts to answer the questions most frequently asked concerning the Law. The Law is not intended to prohibit employers from obtaining all the information about applicants that is clearly job related and which cannot be used for discriminatory purposes.

The Law does not restrict employers from defining qualifications necessary for satisfactory job performance, but it does require that standards of qualifications for hiring be applied alike to all persons regardless of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or ancestry.
