Callie’s Conundrum

Callie finally decided to drop her Biology class and has to get her professor’s (Dr. Williams’) signature by the end of the day on her drop/add slip. When she stops by her professor’s office, Dr. Williams is not there. She looks on his door and realizes she has missed his office hours. When she calls Dr. Williams’ phone number, she gets a voicemail where Callie tells Dr. Williams that she needs to drop the class because she is not doing well. Callie tells Dr. Williams she is not doing badly in the class but is afraid if she doesn’t drop out, her grades on other classes will be affected. She tells Dr. Williams that she will sign the professor’s name on the form and if that’s a problem to just let her know.

[Scenario created by Christopher Pittman, Bowling Green State University]