

Emerging Leaders Evaluation Fall 2007

Emerging Leaders is a two-day retreat that teaches emerging leaders in the Bowling Green State University Greek community transferable leadership skills and how to apply those skills to all facets of life. Students participate in a number of leadership and team building activities that help them to be successful leaders in their years at BGSU and beyond. Many individuals move on to become members of chapter executive councils and other influential positions on campus.

The learning outcomes of Emerging Leaders Fall 2007 were identified as...

- Networking – be familiar with the people that can help you to be successful (peers, administration, graduate students, and advisors)
- Greek Unity – recognizing that we are all part of the Greek community and that we can break down the stereotypes between chapters and individuals
- Values – upholding our integrity by living the values we say we believe in
- Break down barriers – be willing to learn about other chapters, councils, and people
- Communication – learning about how you personally prefer to communicate with others, and how you will need to work with others to effectively communicate
