

MAKING WORK FOR YOU AND e-RESOURCES your STUDENTS

Beyond EBSCO: Resources for Graduate-Level Research Jerome Library, Room 142

Friday, February 5, 3:30pm-5:00pm

Monday, February 8, 4:30pm-6:00pm

This workshop will help graduate students learn how to use online databases designed to support upper-level research across the disciplines. We will also discuss how to identify and obtain a range of research materials. Attendees will learn how to get the most out of databases like WorldCat, Web of Science, JSTOR, and statistical sources; how to identify the best research databases in their disciplines; and how to download or request a range of materials.

Manage Yourself and Your Info! 201 University Hall

Thursday, January 21, 11:30am-1:00pm

Friday, January 22, 2:30pm-4:00pm

This workshop will introduce a suite of online information management tools that can help you stay organized and keep up on current research in your field. We will show you how to create email and online alerts for database searches and individual journals, discuss social bookmarking tools (CiteULike and del.icio.us), and explore the features of worldcat.org.

How to Conduct a Literature Review 201 University Hall

Tuesday, December 1, 2:30pm-4:00pm

Tuesday, February 23, 2:30pm-4:00pm

Thursday, February 25, 10:00am-11:30am

This workshop will introduce attendees to what a literature review is, what it is used for, and how to begin the research process to create one. We will learn skills to explode/expand search strategies to be exhaustive and practice thinking through the research process. Finding a variety of source types and using bibliographies to extend a search backwards will also be covered.

RefWorks: Bibliographic Management Software Jerome Library, Room 142

Friday, January 15, 2:30pm-3:45pm

Thursday, February 4, 3:30pm-4:45pm

Friday, February 12, 9:30am-10:45am

This workshop will introduce attendees to RefWorks, a web-based bibliographic management system. Wish there was an easier way to keep track of reference citations used for your research papers? Tired of retyping and reformatting bibliographies and works cited lists? Wouldn't it be easier to locate a needed article if all your citations were in an organized database? Take a guided tour of RefWorks and start building your own database right away!

I've Graduated: Now What? 201 University Hall

Tuesday, April 27, 10:30am-12:00pm

Wednesday, April 28, 2:30pm-4:00pm

This workshop will introduce attendees to RefWorks, a web-based bibliographic management system. Wish there was an easier way to keep track of reference citations used for your research papers? Tired of retyping and reformatting bibliographies and works cited lists? Wouldn't it be easier to locate a needed article if all your citations were in an organized database? Take a guided tour of RefWorks and start building your own database right away!

To register for our workshops, please visit our website <http://www.bgsu.edu/ctl/page11755.html>,
or email us at ctl@bgsu.edu

and the University Libraries