Dan Hurry joined Mercy Health in 2016 to lead the ministry’s Supply Chain operations, including procurement, logistics, sourcing and accounts payable in all acute and non-acute facilities.

Hurry came to Mercy Health from Tenet Healthcare where he was responsible for the Texas region supply chain operations, as well as strategy and logistics development for the Tenet enterprise of 85 hospitals and more than 200 outpatient facilities nationwide.

He also served in a variety of leadership roles at Valero Energy's headquarters in San Antonio, Texas, specifically in the areas of consolidated logistics, wholesale capital, project management and supply chain across the country. His varied experience in a host of supply chain areas brings a valuable point of view to Mercy Health.

A native of upstate New York, Hurry earned his bachelor’s degree from State University of New York at Fredonia and his MBA from University of Texas at San Antonio.
