

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES (HDFS) MINOR

School of Family and Consumer Sciences
College of Education and Human Development

Spring 2021 - current

21 SEMESTER HOURS

The minor in Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS) is designed to offer students an introduction to family studies courses in addition to a broad understanding of human development across the lifespan as well as focused coursework in a specific developmental age. Students gain a greater understanding of contemporary family systems, development, and challenges through a strengths-based perspective.

REQUIRED COURSE

REQUIRED CREDIT HOURS

- _____ HDFS 1930: Lifespan Human Development (3)
- _____ HDFS 2020: Contemporary Marriages and Families (3)
- _____ HDFS 3050: Family Resource Management (3)
- _____ HDFS 4280: Sexuality in HDFS (3)

SELECT ONE COURSE FROM THE FOLLOWING:

- _____ HDFS 2200: Infancy and Toddlerhood (3)
- _____ HDFS 2210: Child Development (3)
- _____ HDFS 2280: Pre-Adolescent and Adolescent Development (3)
- _____ HDFS 2290: Adult Development (3)

SELECT TWO COURSES FROM THE FOLLOWING:

- _____ HDFS 2080: Family Diversity (3)
- _____ HDFS 3250: Child and Family Under Stress (3)
- _____ HDFS 3290: Families in Mid to Later Years (3)