Between Puerto Rican Poetry and Mexican-American Art

October 8 – 9, 2018

A cultural/artistic dialogue between the diasporic poetry of Victor Hernández Cruz, living in Morocco, and the local Mexican-American art of Delfina Zapata, from Toledo, OH and Emanuel Enriquez from Bowling Green, OH

Pallister Room (Jerome Library)
October 8, 2018
6:00-7:30 pm
Victor Hernández Cruz:
a Puerto Rican Poet in Morocco

Arts Village
(Kreischer Compton Hall)
October 9, 2018
6:00-7:30 pm
Delfina Zapata & Emanuel Enriquez, Mexican-American Art from Northern Ohio, followed by dialogue with Poet Victor Hernández Cruz

Contact Dr. Francisco Cabanillas
Professor of Caribbean Literature and Culture;
U.S. Latino Literature and Culture - fcabani@bgsu.edu

BOTH TALKS ARE FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Sponsored by: ECAP, Arts Village, Institute of Culture and Society (ICS), Latin American and Latino Studies Cluster, History Department, World Languages and Cultures, College of Arts and Science, University Libraries, School of Cultural and Critical Studies.

BGSU
BELONG. STAND OUT. GO FAR.
CHANGING LIVES FOR THE WORLD.™
BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY