Pre and Postdoctoral Positions Available at Sealy Center on Aging, University of Texas

These positions are for research focusing on the health of older minorities, with an emphasis on older Hispanics. Trainees collaborate with Center faculty who have over $42 million in research pertaining to minority health and aging in the areas of comparative effectiveness, medical outcomes, health service utilization, social epidemiology, psychosocial stress and health promotion. Exceptional candidates will qualify for an additional $5,000 - $10,000 over the NIH stipend level plus moving expenses. All trainees receive full health care benefits. Additional funds are available to cover tuition and fees for relevant courses and other training related expenses. Complete information is at this link.

BGSU/OSU Graduate Student Conference on Population – November 1st

The conference will take place Friday, November 1st at Ohio State University. Be prepared to submit your presentation proposals in late September.
