

CFDR Update: July 13, 2018

Add Health Working Group Meeting – Wednesday July 18th

Maurice Anyawie, "Growing up in America: Children of Immigrants and Nonmarital Fertility"
1:00-2:00 pm, Wednesday, July 18
CFDR Conference Room, 7C Williams Hall

Free Virtual Data Training: Linking Administrative Data with Survey Data

Join Research Connections for a free 6-day virtual data training series on effectively linking administrative data to survey data using the National Survey of Early Care and Education (NSECE). Training will be provided by NSECE project staff using a web-based learning platform and video conferencing. Collaborative sessions will take place July 17-19 and July 23-25, with morning and evening sections available. This series is free, but space is limited. For more information go to this link.

Grant Opportunity from the Horowitz Foundation for Social Policy

The Horowitz Foundation for Social Policy is now accepting applications for grants. In 2017, they funded 19 awards for the most outstanding research in social policy by PhD candidates. Awards for are valued at $7,500 - $12,500. Please visit their site for more information about criteria and eligibility. The application deadline for this cycle is December 1, 2018.

Podcast on NIH Advisory Councils: Understanding What Happens During the Second Round of Peer Review

A new All About Grants podcast delves more into the second round of peer review at NIH (MP3 / Transcript). Dr. Sally Amero, NIH's Review Policy Officer with the NIH Office of Extramural Research, and Dr. Rebekah Rasooly, a Branch Chief in program with the National Institute of Nursing Research, will discuss the role and functions of these advisory councils. Listeners will hear about who makes up these groups, what they are tasked with reviewing, their general decision-making processes, and how their recommendations are considered at the funding NIH Institute or Center.