

CFDR Update: December 20, 2019

Summer Institute in Migration Research Methods

The Russell Sage Foundation will sponsor the 3rd Summer Institute in Migration Research Methods to be held at the University of California Berkeley campus from May 26-June 5, 2020. The application deadline is February 10, 2020. For more information click here.

Research Experience for Undergraduates at the University of Texas

The Population Research Center at the University of Texas is offering a Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU) in summer 2020. Students will have the opportunity to work directly with faculty, policy analysts, and senior graduate students on issues related to race, ethnicity, and American families. Students will also participate in coursework, data analysis, training experiences in the 'real' world and the academy. Applications are due by February 29, 2020

Funding Opportunities from the National Science Foundation

- Growing Convergence Research (GCR) research is a means for solving vexing research problems, in particular, complex problems focusing on societal needs. It entails integrating knowledge, methods, and expertise from different disciplines and forming novel frameworks to catalyze scientific discovery and innovation. NSF 19-551
- The Sociology Program supports basic research on all forms of human social organization -- societies, institutions, groups and demography -- and processes of individual and institutional change. NSF 18-577

CFDR Spring Symposium – April 2, 2020

The symposium “Declining Fertility in the U.S.: Interpretations, Predictions, and Implications” will take place on Thursday, April 2nd. The guest speakers will be:

- Dr. Lawrence L. Wu, Professor of Sociology and Director of NYU Population Center, New York University
- Dr. Alison Gemmill, Assistant Professor, Population, Family and Reproductive Health, Johns Hopkins University
- Dr. Joshua R. Goldstein, Chancellor’s Professor of Demography, Department of Demography, University of California at Berkeley