

CFDR Update: September 4, 2020

CFDR Speaker Series – Wednesday, September 9

Hands Up, Don't Shoot: Why the Protests in Ferguson and Baltimore Matter and How They Changed America

Jennifer Cobbina, PhD

School of Criminal Justice, Michigan State University

Wednesday, September 9, 12:30-1:30 pm, Online

CFDR Faculty Research Development Award

As part of our P2C Population Infrastructure Award, the CFDR has funds available immediately to support small-scale awards to facilitate high-quality social scientific research and scholarship central to the mission of our funders, the Population Dynamics Branch (PDB) of the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD). Application requirements can be found on our website at this link.

AERA Minority Dissertation Fellowship in Education Research – Applications due November 16

The American Educational Research Association has announced its 2021–2022 AERA Minority Dissertation Fellowship in Education Research competition for advanced graduate students. The Fellowship Program seeks proposals from advanced graduate students who are from racial and ethnic groups that are underrepresented in higher education. Further information about the program, eligibility requirements, and application instructions are available here. An informational webinar to discuss the fellowship program goals and application process will be held on September 10, 3:00pm-4:00pm ET. Register for the webinar here.

CFDR Symposium – September 21, 2020

The symposium “Declining Fertility in the U.S.: Interpretations, Predictions, and Implications” will take place online on Monday, September 21. Pre-registration is required. Please contact the CFDR Office to register.