

CFDR Update: December 1, 2023

---

Spring Seminar Series

We are excited to begin our collaboration with OSU's Institute for Population Research to create the Ohio Population Consortium. This spring, CFDR will join IPR for their seminar series that will take place via Zoom on Tuesdays from 12:30-1:30 pm. The schedule of speakers is at this link and registration is required. CFDR faculty affiliates interested in meeting with guest speakers, please sign up here.

---

Support for Writing Research Briefs

The Population Reference Bureau (PRB), in collaboration with the Association of Population Centers, is working to improve the dissemination of population and reproductive health findings. If you have peer-reviewed research on population dynamics, population health, or reproductive health that you would like to share with a broader audience in an easily digestible format, learn more about how they can help with editing and promoting your research.

---

ICPSR Scholarships for Stats, Methods, and Data Analysis Training

The Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) offers several scholarships to support students and researchers interested in acquiring quantitative skills in their ICPSR Summer Program. They will begin accepting applications January 22, 2024. All application materials must be submitted by February 26, 2024. Scholarships | Summer Program \(umich.edu\)

---