

International ResearchScape Journal

An Online Open Access Journal Created by the International Studies Program

ScholarWorks About This IR FAQ My Account

International ResearchScape Journal: Call for Undergraduate Papers

Deadline for Submissions: Friday, February 8th, 2019

The International ResearchScape Journal seeks submissions for its Spring 2019 volume. Students with papers that examine experiential learning experiences such as study abroad programs, internships, and/or community-based learning or activist projects are especially encouraged to apply for our “From Praxis to Press” section of the journal.

Papers should have an international focus with integration of an interdisciplinary methodology. They may include, but are not limited to, topics that address American foreign policies, international business, colonialism and nationalism, human rights; global migration; intercultural communication, cultural studies, global environmental studies, world history, world literature and film, demographics, foreign language skills, globalization, and international experiences.

Submissions should be 15-20 pages double-spaced and adhere to MLA (8th edition) formatting.

For further information, please visit <https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/irj/> or contact Dr. Beatrice Guenther (bguenth@bgsu.edu), Dr. Christina Guenther (cguenth@bgsu.edu), or Dr. Rachel Walsh (walshr@bgsu.edu)

This is an excellent opportunity for students to further refine and showcase their scholarship and, particularly for those who intend to apply to graduate programs, to become acquainted with the publication process.