Professor Robert ("Robin") Berg has been invited to discuss on French radio his recently published Péril en la demeure: Regards d’un Américain sur la langue française. The book is a critical look at the state of the French language and the strategies used to defend it. He’ll be interviewed by Albert Salon, former ambassador and president of Avenir de la langue française, who hosts the monthly “Le français en partage” on Radio Courtoisie. Check back soon for a link to the interview. In the meantime, polish up your French. English will not be spoken.