STATE OF OHIO APPROVED PROVIDER

Free Training Through Ohio's IMAP Program

Offered through Bowling Green State University

Earn an industry-recognized credential at no cost.
Training is fully funded through the State of Ohio's Individual Microcredential Assistance Program (IMAP).

ELIGIBILITY

- Must be an Ohio resident
- High school juniors or seniors may qualify
- Incarcerated individuals eligible within 12 months of release
- Not eligible: BGSU or State of Ohio employees

WHY ENROLL?

- Build in-demand technical advanced manufacturing skills
- Increase your earning potential with an industry focused training at no cost
- Earn a digital badge that highlights your achievement throughout your career
- Learn in flexible online format within published 4-week window

HOW TO ENROLL

Request enrollment. Use the QR code to access more information about the trainings and submit your enrollment request form.

Complete a brief phone interview. A BGSU trainer may request a brief interview to confirm eligibility and fit. You may also request an interview.

Receive acceptance confirmation. You'll receive an email with your official acceptance and instructions to get started.

Begin training. Access your training materials and begin learning on the scheduled start date.

Apply now

Questions? Email IMAP@bgsu.edu

SPRING 2026 IMAP TRAININGS (online, self-paced within published 4 week period)

March 9-April 5, 2026
- Quality Production
- Supply Chain Management & Design

April 6-May 3, 2026
- Quality Practices & Measurements
- Warehouse & Distribution Center Layout

May 18-June 14, 2026
- Process Control
- Artificial Intelligence & Machine Learning

BGSU Trainers will be available for optional live interactions during the 4-week period

BGSU BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY

26KH0000