

ScreenCast-O-Matic Help Sheet

What is it?

ScreenCast-O-Matic is a free web tool that allows you to record what is happening on your computer screen and record your voice. Additionally, you can also turn on your webcam so that you can also be seen on your video. After you finish recording you can then review your video and upload to either ScreenCast-O-Matic.com, to YouTube, or download as a video file to your computer.

How it can be used.

This tool can be used to record presentations with voiceover. It is a great way to either archiving your presentations or to allow asynchronous viewing.

Uploading

My preferred method for saving my videos is to post them to YouTube. This way all you have to do is share the link for anyone with web access to view your presentation. You can also save as a video file on your computer. Then you can add your recorded presentation to a larger video project.

Troubleshooting

If you have trouble recording right from the webpage you can download the application (also free). I had to do this for use with Safari on my Mac.
