

BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY
CALL FOR ADJUNCT INSTRUCTOR POOL APPLICATIONS FOR THE SCHOOL OF APPLIED HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

The School of Applied Human Development in the College of Education and Human Development at Bowling Green State University (BGSU) is expanding its pool of qualified individuals to teach courses. Individuals must have appropriate master's degree in the instructional area. For more information about the program areas see the school website
<https://www.bgsu.edu/education-and-human-development/applied-human-development.html>

INSTRUCTIONAL AREAS OF INTEREST INCLUDE:

Exercise Science in the areas of kinesiology, lifetime fitness, group exercise instruction, functional anatomy, exercise physiology, biomechanics, motor development/learning, administration of exercise programs, and/or supervision of field experiences in exercise science settings.

Fashion Merchandising and Product Development in the areas of textiles, merchandising, product development, fundamentals of apparel, visual merchandising, and apparel careers.

Human Development and Family Science in the areas of marriage and family, lifespan development, families, communities, and schools, family resource management, family interaction, family life programming, family diversity, parenting processes, creativity for young children, pre-k teaching methods, and adult development.

Interior Design in the areas of codes, specifications and regulations, professional practices in interior design, textiles, interior design studios, and introduction to interior design.

Sport Management in the areas of introductory sport management; economics of sport; history/philosophy/ethics in sport; research methods in sport management, sport marketing and communications; sport finance, sport operations management/ event & venue management; and/or supervision of field experiences in sport management.

Tourism, Hospitality, and Event Management in the areas of introductory tourism and event planning; convention, meeting, and resort administration; tourism management, and/or supervision of field experiences in tourism, leisure, and event planning.

APPLICATION INFORMATION

Interested part-time adjunct instructors should submit curriculum vitae, transcripts, two letters of reference and letter of interest to: Dr. Jennifer Waldron, School of Applied Human Development, 112 Eppler Center, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio 43403 or email information to waldronj@bgsu.edu.

BGSU is an EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from all regardless of sex, race, veteran-status, disability, age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.