Course Goals and Objectives:

This course is designed for advanced doctoral students in Higher Education Administration, as it gives them the opportunity to discuss, expand, and apply what they have learned in other courses concerning inquiry in higher education. It focuses upon providing information for decision support through such activities as applied research, assessment, institutional research, and planning. The primary goal of the course is to prepare students to assess or supervise the assessment of programs, services, facilities, student outcomes, etc.; to identify information needs and obtain pertinent and accurate information that will assist in the decision-making process; to design and implement applied research and assessment tools; to analyze, synthesize, and interpret information from multiple sources; to communicate information to others and to apply relevant information to the processes of supervision, program development, policy formation, budgeting, etc. Upon completion of the course, students should be able to:

1. Identify research needs and define research questions associated with current issues in higher education;
2. Describe historical, social, political, financial, ethical, and other issues pertaining to assessment and evaluation in higher education;
3. Discuss the roles of diverse constituencies in requesting, providing, and receiving information related to assessment and evaluation;
4. Identify formal and informal sources of data and information;
5. Conduct critical reviews of existing research and identify factors influencing the application of research findings to specific problems in higher education;
6. Prepare a research plan that includes well-defined questions, research methods, a timeline for implementation, resource requirements, and procedures for communicating results.
7. Gather, organize, analyze, and synthesize data and interpret information from multiple sources;
8. Effectively communicate research findings orally and in writing to diverse constituent groups.

This class is designed to address all of the BGSU University Learning Outcomes: inquiry, creative problem solving, examining values in decision making, writing, presenting, participation, and leadership.

Course Format:

Multiple class formats will be used, including lectures/discussions led by the instructor, students, and guest speakers. Some activities will be completed in class, while others will be completed individually or as part of groups outside of the class setting. Effective contributions to in-class discussions require that readings be completed before the class for which they are assigned.
Texts:

Other course materials will be provided by the instructor, placed on MyBGSU, placed on reserve in the Jerome library, or found on the Web.

Office Hours and Location:

My office is at 708 East Wooster (house across from Founders). I am normally there 8:00-5:00 every day and you are welcome to phone or e-mail me at any time. Because I want to make sure that I am available when you come to see me, I ask that you please contact me ahead of time unless it is for something very brief. Don't hesitate to contact me! I am here for you!

Requirements and Expectations

I expect all students to attend class regularly and to be on time, to make substantial contributions to class discussions, to adhere to the University’s Core Values, its standards for academic integrity (see http://www.bgsu.edu/offices/sa/book/Student_Handbook.pdf), and its principles for the ethical treatments of human subjects in research (see http://www.bgsu.edu/offices/sa/book/Student_Handbook.pdf). Please note that all written materials handed in are to be typewritten, double-spaced and in APA format (latest edition). Group assignments will be graded upon a group basis; members of each presentation and research project group will receive the same grade on assignments. Students with disabilities that may affect their performance in this class are encouraged to notify the instructor as soon as possible so that appropriate accommodations may be made. While students are encouraged to provide input and feedback about topics, methods, assignments, etc., the instructor holds the final responsibility for the syllabus, methods, and assignments and reserves the right to modify the syllabus as necessary.
