Come celebrate with HESA

The Department of Higher Education and Student Affairs is celebrating the 40th anniversary of the College Student Personnel program. The Higher Education Administration doctoral program was established in 1991. A series of events planned throughout the year will celebrate this special anniversary.

In November, the Saddlemire Lecture was given by Dr. Peter Rea (CSP '83). Rea is the Burton D. Morgan Chair for Entrepreneurial Studies at Baldwin-Wallace College. He provided leadership to create, launch and operate the college’s Center for Innovation and Growth.

The annual New Professionals in Transition (NPIT) was on Jan. 22 with a special reception honoring alumni mentors and HIED students who are so helpful in preparing our soon-to-be graduates for their professional interviews.

We will also have special displays at our alumni and friends receptions at both the ACPA and NASPA receptions in Boston and Chicago. We hope to see you there as well.

Finally, please mark your calendars for the big event that will take place June 25-27, 2010. The “Back to BG” Professional Development Reunion will offer alumni the chance to reconnect with faculty and friends in a way that will include information about professional practices and engage you in enjoyable interaction.

“The initial reaction we are getting from our alums has been very exciting,” said Dr. Bob DeBard, who is chairing the organization team for the reunion.

“We have been talking about doing something like this for a number of years and using the 40th anniversary to give the opportunity to our 1,600 alums to come together is the right time,” added Dr. Mike Coomes who will be completing his 10th year as department chair of HESA.

“We hope you’ll gather your CSP and HIED friends and come back to BG to celebrate with us.”

The events of the weekend are being held in conjunction with the BG SU Alumni & Friends Centennial Weekend. There will be entertainment, opportunities to get together with members of your cohort, recreational activities for the whole family, and good food and drinks at Bowling Green prices. You will have the opportunity to stay in suite-style housing in Founders Quads on campus or at the Levis Commons Hilton Garden Inn. Watch our website, http://www.bgsu.edu/colleges/edhd/hesa/index.html, which will feature historical pictures and stories throughout the year. In addition, a Facebook page has been established to better communicate the various events that will take place. Stay in touch with us via the Facebook page.

REMEmbering Heather Ahuero

On Nov. 9, 2009, the HESA community suffered a significant loss with the passing of Heather Ahuero, a second-year CSP student who served as the graduate coordinator for academic and special programs in BGSU’s Office of Residence Life. Beyond her status as a student and staff member, Heather was simply a good friend and person to those whose lives she touched.

She was arguably one of the most genuine people in the CSP program. She had a certain spark about her that let others know when she felt excited, passionate about an issue or found something particularly hilarious. She felt completely comfortable with herself and could often be found dancing her heart out, snuggling unsuspecting contestants in tennis, treading through the snow-covered campus in flip-flops or sharing stories about her favorite city, Seattle.

Heather believed in people. She believed in others’ stories and in creating relationships. She served as an advocate, promoting the value of multicultural education and championing the advancement of LGBT rights through her roles as a friend and as co-advisor to BGSU’s Vision group. She wanted others to enhance their educational experience through study abroad opportunities, an area she pursued through a practicum. Heather did not settle down easily and Spread the word!

Are you aware of a professional colleague or a promising student who might be a good fit for one of our programs? Many of our current students find their way to BGSU through alumni like you. Please recommend our programs to potential students. For more information, visit our website at www.bgsu.edu/colleges/edhd/hesa/index or email the HESA Office (hesa@bgsu.edu) to request application materials (which are also available online).
REMEmBERING

Heather Ahuero

continued from cover

was constantly exploring new places to visit or study. Originally from Grand Junction, Colo., and having pursued her undergraduate degree at The University of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Wash., Heather’s experience at BGSU opened her eyes to the Midwest. She continued her journey by spending the summer of 2009 on the HESA United Kingdom Study Tour and completed an internship at York St. John University. Nothing was too intimidating for Heather, as she continually sought out new ways to learn about herself and the world around her.

It seems fitting that one of Heather’s favorite quotes was her alma mater’s motto, “prcs ta akra,” which means “to the heights.” She never settled for average. She constantly challenged the process, tackling obstacles as they arose. She established herself as a scholar among her peers and pursued experiences that would help her discern meaning and purpose in life. She was restless in a way that spurred her to always look for the good, no matter the risk.

In true HESA fashion, Heather embodied the spirit of “learn, develop and grow,” as she embraced the fullness of life and all it brought her. As friends of Heather, we love and respect her continual optimism and zest for life. Her legacy certainly will live on both within our cohort and the HESA community. Heather, we have become better people for having known you, appreciate your inspiration, and will continue to miss you every day.

—Kelsey Kowalski, CSP ’10
—David Stockton, CSP ’10
—Liz Wengor, CSP ’10

FALL 2009

Current members of the Higher Education Administration Doctoral Students (HEADS) organization executive board are:

President — Kerry Jones
Vice President for Full-Time Students — Chris Bullins
Vice President for Part-Time Students — Rebecca Mosely
Treasurer — Mike Freyaldenhoven
SS Representative — Chad Coates
HIED Doctoral Program Graduate Assistant — Evelyn Ashley

During the fall the organization hosted a number of social and educational events. HEADS held Statistics Review Sessions one Friday each month for those preparing for preliminary exams. Dr. Rachel Reinhart from the Leadership Studies Program led the sessions. In early November, members of the third-year doctoral cohort shared their self-study data with the rest of the program. They will be presenting this information at the ACDA and NASPA national meetings this spring.

As for social events, a tailgating social with faculty was held in late September before a home football game. In mid-November, members gathered at the Black Swamp Pub on campus, and in keeping with HESA tradition, an annual holiday party was held before the winter break.

In addition to these events, the executive board worked on revising the organization’s constitution and by-laws; these proposed changes will be voted on in the spring semester. In other initiatives, a member assessment was sent to all HIED students to gather feedback about the organization’s priorities and to gather information for strategic planning for the department.

—Kerry Jones, 2007 Cohort

HIED GRADUATES 11 STUDENTS IN ONE YEAR

For the third time in the history of the Higher Education Administration program 11 students were graduated in one academic year; previous years were 1998 and 1999.

The 2009 HIED graduates are:

Renee Clark
Academic Advisor,
Advising and Academic Success, BGSU.
Dissertation title: “Credit for keyboarding entered students in a skill-building course for first-year students”

Sally Click
Dean of Student Services,
Butler University, Indianapolis.
Dissertation title: “Melvin Draheim Hardee: Music maker and dreamer of dreams”

Kathy Collins
Associate Director, Residence Education, Texas A&M University,
College Station, Texas. Dissertation title: “Those who just said ‘No!’: Career-life decisions of middle-management women in student affairs administration”

Christie Cruise-Harper
Director of Minority Affairs and Multicultural Programs, Gainesville State College, Gainesville, Ga.
Dissertation title: “The relationship between parental notification and recidivism and retention of students who violated the university alcohol policy”

Denise Davidson
Assistant Professor, Guidance Counseling and Student Affairs, Bloomsburg University, Bloomsburg, Pa.
Dissertation title: “National job satisfaction of entry- and mid-level student affairs professionals”

Cynthia Fulford
Dissertation title: “Preparing students to work in a globally diverse world: The relationship of college students backgrounds and colleges experiences to their orientation towards diversity”

Brady Gaskins
Coordinator for Strategic Planning, Assessment and Technology, BGSU. Dissertation title: “A ten-year study of the conditional effects on student success in the first year of college”

Jeff Kegolis
Interim Assistant, Director of Greek Affairs, BGSU. Dissertation title: “New professional’s perspectives of supervision in student affairs”

Pete Meagher
Dissertation title: “A phenomenological study of the experience of respondents in campus-based restorative justice programs”

Gina Ondercin
Dissertation title: “Being interim: Leading in a transitional appointment”

Angie Williams Chehmani
TWO SIDES TO A LEGACY

Although I am still in denial, my friends and family often tell me that I am following my dad's career path. I thoroughly enjoyed attending DePaul basketball games when my dad was their Dean of Enrollment Management, but I still contend that I became interested in student affairs through my own involvement with student organizations in college. My dad, Tom Abrahamson, graduated from Bowling Green's CSP program in 1980 and got his first job in the office of admissions at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. I attended Trinity University for my undergraduate degree, interning in the office of admissions, after which I moved to Bowling Green to start my master's degree.

When I visited Bowling Green for 1-days, I was excitedly approached by Carney Strange who had taught my dad in his first year as a faculty member. Carney was clutching a photograph of two bearded men wearing the same outfit. It took me far longer than it should have to identify which young man was my dad and which was Carney. My dad dressed up as Carney for the HESA banquet.

Besides that moment and the subsequent semester of being the second Abrahamson to be taught by Carney Strange, my CSP experience has been indistinguishable from non-legacy students. The only downside is the rare occasion when I disagree with my dad's advice, until I remember that he is also a great resource for my field, making him harder to tune out. However, I feel lucky to be able to call my dad for advice about professional development, career advice, and, surprisingly, homework issues (he can still recall all seven vectors!).

—Lauren Abrahamson, CSP '12

THE “OTHER” SIDE OF THE STORY

Back in 1978, when I was sitting in Carney's Student Development Theory class, I couldn't fathom being 50+ years old with a fabulous wife of 25 years and two amazing adult children. The idea that one of my kids would attend BG in the year 2010, preparing to be a future leader in higher ed administration, would have been even more preposterous.

How did this happen? Hard to know, but I think I can explain it... it's the incredible perks you get when you're in higher ed; namely, free candy, coffee and muffins. So here's my unsolicited advice on how you, too, can raise a legacy if you so choose.

I've loved every minute of the CSP program and my two careers, which now span more than 30 years.

I guess my enthusiasm rubbed off on Lauren. She was always extra-curious about what was happening at work and with client projects.

Her fascination began with Take Your Daughter to Work (TYDTW) days. One year, when Lauren was about eight, she accompanied me to an admissions conference. She attended sessions (she was the most attentive person in the room), and at break periods, filled her pockets with the Jolly Ranchers that overflowed from the candy bowls. When Lauren was 12, I had a consulting assignment at the University of Michigan on TYDTW day. She patiently dragged through a full day of meetings but the most fascinating part of her day was when she learned that the client would pay for my breakfast as a business expense, she was astounded and impressed. I can't help but think it was the free snacks that ultimately drove her career decision.

I never expected or encouraged my kids to follow in my footsteps. But I did frequently pass on career advice that my dad gave me: "Figure out what you enjoy doing most. There is a career for that (and if there isn't, invent one). Determine what you dislike and figure out a way to avoid those things like the plague. And, don't worry about success and money, because if you're doing what you love and your standards are high, those things are guaranteed." So far, both my kids are following this advice, and I'm grinning ear-to-ear with pride in how well their lives are turning out.

—Tom Abrahamson '80

---

Thank you NPIT Mock Interviewers

The Bowling Green Student Development Association (BGSDA) would like to thank the 34 alumni who participated in mock interviews during the New Professionals in Transition (NPIT) conference on Jan. 22, 2310. The conference was a huge success with the support of our CSP community. The second-year students are very appreciative of your professional advice and are certain that they will benefit from meeting and interacting with you all through the mock interviews. NPIT would not be possible without the help of alumni and friends of CSP/HESA, so we cannot thank you enough. Our students will be more prepared for the job search because of your efforts. Thank you again for your willingness to volunteer this year.

—Emily Sankey, CSP '10

NPIT Co-Chair
1990s

Robert L. Callaway '98 passed away Jan. 9, 2009 at his home in Elyria, Ohio. He was the dean of the Social Sciences and Human Services Division at Lorain County Community College. Previously, he was the interim director of the Institutional Effectiveness and Planning Office.

Heather Lane Vetere '98 is vice provost of students at Ryerson University.

Renee Borns '99 is the assistant vice president for Student Success Initiatives at Houston Baptist University. She was awarded the 2008 Service to Commission Award for the Advising Administration Commission by the National Academic Advising Association.

Bruce Clemetsen '99 is the dean of student services at Linn-Benton Community College.

2000s

Lisa Gueldenzopf '00 won the 2009 Delta Pi Epsilon Innovative Instructional Practices Award. She is an associate professor of business education at North Carolina A&T State University.

Bettina Shuford '00 is the associate vice provost for academic affairs at Bowling Green State University. Previously she was the assistant vice president for student affairs and director of the Center for Multicultural and Academic Initiatives. She was selected as the inaugural recipient of the NASPA Foundation's Zenobia Hikes Scholarship to attend the 2010 Alice Manicur Symposium for women in mid-level managerial positions who are contemplating a move to a senior student affairs officer position.

Thomas Cahoon '02 is the assistant dean at Pardee Rand Graduate School in Santa Monica, Calif.

Rene Murphy '02 (and CSP '94) is the director of assessment for the College of Health Sciences at the University of Kentucky. Her responsibilities include a broad focus on assessment and creating a college-wide plan to manage accreditation, processes for data collection and assessing student learning outcomes.

Barbara Henry '03 is the associate vice provost for advising and academic services at Bowling Green State University. Previously, she was the director of student and academic services in BGSU's College of Education and Human Development.

Jane Rosser '03 was recognized by the Bowling Green branch of the American Association of University Women as an Outstanding Woman of the Year for 2009. She was one of three award recipients for her work in the community, including her role in the BGSU Women's Center and as the founder of the Big Lavender Women's group, among other accomplishments.

Keith Hansen '05 is an instructional developer with the Dynamic Research Corporation of Andover, Mass. He is working with a government project for the Army based at Fort Leavenworth.

Casey Sacks '08 and her husband Erik are living in Evergreen, Colo., where she is the Career and Technical Act manager for the Colorado Community College System.

Julie Snyder '08 was appointed director of the Sidney A. Ribeau President's Leadership Academy at Bowling Green State University in October 2009, where she had served as the interim director since July 2008.

Greetings from the new Bowling Green Student Development Association!

A new executive board took over the BGSDA reigns at the annual end-of-the-semester party hosted by Dr. Maureen Wilson. The board had a busy spring semester with many different events and programs.

As president of the executive board, let me introduce the additional executive cabinet members: Lindy Bobbit, vice president; Katherine Lotourneau, executive administrator; Denica Brooks, professional development chair; and Abby Recelius, community outreach chair. Thanks to the 2009 executive board, Justin Sipes, Michael Baumhardt, Stacey Rose, Shandus Valentine-Parish, and Greg Luscok for all of their hard work and dedication to the HESA office, CSP students and BGSDA.

BGSDA hosted the New Professionals in Training (NPIT/GAPD) Conference in January, coordinated by Emily Sankey (NPIT 2010 chair) with the help of Colleen Hughbanks and Steven Kraznowski (NPIT/GAPD 2011 chairs). The 2011 NPIT is excited to partner resources and sessions with the January session of Graduate Assistant Professional Development (GAPD). Other professional development sessions included resume review, portfolio info sessions, and money management seminars.

Continued this year were the "Lunch with the Faculty" sessions where students were encouraged to have lunch with the faculty members twice a month. These sessions were well attended and enjoyed by students and faculty. February will be a busy month full of interview days where we were able to coordinate a dinner gathering, social opportunities, and order the famous Cookie Jar cookies for the current students and the potential students, and potentially a Super Bowl gathering.

The highlight of the spring semester will be the annual spring banquet. There will be Skits, Gerry Awards, and singing at the event. We are really excited about this activity and hope it continues to bring the students of our co-horts together, and helps close their year with some wonderful memories.

BGSDA played a welcoming role during the GradStep week by hosting dinners and social time for everyone to come together. Other social events this year have included a Curling Night, March and Halloween Social. We hope to put on more events throughout the spring semester that will bring together different students within the program that will involve service to our Bowling Green community, activities that connect current students with past alum, and social activities.

As BGSDA returned in the fall, our commitment to continuing the strong relationship with alumni is one that sets the HESA department at Bowling Green apart from other programs. In addition, we will continue to provide social programs, professional development and positive leadership so that the reputation of BGSDA and the CSP program continues its strong and distinguished tradition.

We congratulate the Class of 2010 and welcome the Class of 2012. Thank you to the HESA Department, Kathy Bechstein, alumni, friends and current students of the CSP program for your support and encouragement. If you have questions, concerns or ideas, please email kdillon@bgsu.edu

—Kevin Dillon
BGSDA President
Bowling Green State University
Higher Education and Student Affairs
College of Education and Human Development
330 Education Building
Bowling Green, Ohio 43403-0244

Thank you for your continued support!
We hope that you will continue to stay in touch!

Nominations
I would like to nominate the following people to receive program information:

Check one:
☐ CSP program – bachelor’s degree by June 2011; student affairs experience preferred
☐ HIED program – master’s degree, at least 3-5 years professional experience preferred

Name: ____________________________
Email: ____________________________
Address: ____________________________

(Please feel free to attach additional names and addresses)

Alumni Information Update (so we can keep your information up to date)

Name: ____________________________ Year of Graduation: ____________
Job Title/Employer: ____________________________
Work Address: ____________________________
Email Address: ____________________________
Work Phone: ____________________________ Fax: ____________________________
Home Address: ____________________________
News I would like to share with the program:
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

☐ Yes, I would be interested in representing HESA programs at graduate school fairs in my area.

Return to: HESA, Bowling Green State University, 330 Education Building, Bowling Green, OH 43403-0244
hesa@bgsu.edu • Phone: 419-372-7382 • Fax: 419-372-9382

Please consider making a gift to any of the following HESA funds:

Saddlemire Scholarship Fund. Awarded to an undergraduate who has been heavily involved in student affairs on the BGSU campus.

Alumni Professional Development Fund. Supports graduate students’ attendance at conferences and professional development activities.

CSP General Fund. Supports CSP program activities, BGSU, and provides educational materials for use in the programs.

Donald D. Gehring Global Leadership Fund. Supports overseas travel for doctoral students to fulfill the global understanding requirement.

Higher Education Administration Foundation Account. Supports the needs of the HIED program that are not covered by funds provided by the University (e.g., student conference travel).

Fayette M. Paulsen Award. Awarded annually to graduate students in the CSP and/or HIED programs to cover professional development, research or job search needs.

☐ $25 ☐ $50
☐ $100 ☐ Other

Please make checks payable to BGSU HESA.
Contributions are tax deductible.
1970s
Mark Fletcher ’74 passed away in June 2009 in Virginia, leaving behind a legacy of kindness, integrity and professionalism. Most recently, he was a dedicated member of the University of Virginia family and very active in the Charlottesville community. He and his wife, Gina, have three grown children.
Karen Lynne Glick ’79 is serving as the associate campaign director at the University of Illinois Foundation.

1980s
Pete Lefferts ’80 was the only male participant to swim in the 0.25-mile leg of the World Challenge Doca Iron Triathlon. He finished the 24-mile swim, 1,120-mile bike race and 262 mile run in 13 days, 14 hours, 49 minutes and 21 seconds in 15th place out of 18 starters. He was the seventh American to ever finish this race distance, with the third fastest time.
L. Jay Burlingame ’82 was honored with the 2007 Vice President’s Award for Achievement at the annual Penn State Staff Recognition Convocation.
David Weinandy ’82 was awarded the BSU Alumni Service Award for his work with the Alumni Association and contributions to the Student Recruitment and Scholarship committee and the Alumni Laureate Scholars committee in 2008. He is a professor of communications at Aquinas College.
JoAnn Sheeran Fletcher ’85 became a certified high school guidance counselor and has the privilege of working in her son’s school. Her two oldest children are now attending Assumption College and Siena College.
Colleen Barker-Williamson ’86 was one of three recipients of the President’s Award for Distinguished Service during Case Western Reserve’s 2008 Staff Awards Brunch. She is the director for programs and leadership at the Thwing Center.
Dr. Ron Binder ’86, director of Greek Life at the University of South Carolina, was named the Greek Advisor of the Year by the Lambda Chi Alpha International Fraternity. He received this award for his more than 20 years of Greek advisor experience at four major institutions. The award was presented at Lambda Chi’s Centennial Celebration in Indianapolis on July 31, 2009.
Patty Scott ’86 was named the interim president of the Southwestern Oregon Community College Board in October 2008. Previously she was dean of students and director of educational programs at Southwestern.
Julie Hafer ’89 passed away on March 1, 2009 at her home in Mt. Adams, Ohio. She served as the director of Career Planning and Placement at Heidelberg University and as the associate dean of students. She was also an interim vice president at Heidelberg for a semester. She was pursuing a master’s degree in organizational leadership from Mt. St. Joseph’s College in Cincinnati.

1990s
Wang Gang ’90 accepted a position as director of services to international students and scholars at the University of California, San Francisco in October 2008.
Paul Wolansky ’90 is senior director of alumni relations at Colorado State Alumni Association.
Stan Lewis ’93 was named one of BG’s Best in 2009 for his work as the director of adult learner services and evening credit programs. Recently, he implemented a “Finish What You Started” program to help former students return to complete their degrees.
James Atkinson ’95 is the head of Campus East at the University of Wollongong in New South Wales, Australia.
Yvonne Canada ’95 was recently promoted to Senior Academic/Student Services manager for the San Ramon Campus of Diablo Valley College. She was nominated for, and accepted to participate in, the Chief Student Services/Instructor’s Leadership Institution.
Matthew Johnson ’95 is a manager at ECG Management Consultants Inc. in the Academic Healthcare practice. He works with medical schools, and has assisted academic health center clients with compensation planning, faculty development and production analysis, physician/hospital fund flows and department financial/operational reviews.
Michelle Espino ’98 was the recipient of the 2008 ASHE Dissertation of the Year award. She is a faculty member in the College Student Affairs Administration program at the University of Georgia.
Tara Mohrfeld’ ’98 is manager of Operations and Global Initiatives for the MBA Program at the University of Tennessee.
Sean McGreevey ’99 completed his doctoral degree from the University of South Carolina on May 9, 2009. His dissertation was titled “Infusing Multicultural Competence in Supervision: Current Practices in Student Affairs.” Upon graduation, he was named director of Residence Life at Young Harris College, Ga. Tracey (Gavin) Florence ’00 and Todd welcomed Madeleine Grace on May 23, 2009. Madeleine joins her older sister Allie.
Arlene Hill ’01 was named director of the Kogod Center for Career Development at American University in Washington D.C. in 2009. She previously worked at Georgetown University where she served as the associate director of MBA Career Management in the McDonough School of Business and as the associate director of Employer and Alumni Relations in the main campus career center.
Brian Niedzwicki ’01 was recognized as one of Toledo’s 20 people under 40 for contributions to the community. He is the vice president for operations at Stautzenberger College.
Gordon Heminger ’02 is the president and CEO of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity. Previously he was the interim associate director of Residence Life and director of Greek Affairs at Bowling Green State University, where he earned a Big East award for his work with students and staff in the Office of Greek Affairs.
Katie Holdgreve-Resendez ’02 is the assistant director for Campus Life at Eastern Michigan University.
Chris Gale ’03 is the administrator for the Department of Communication Studies at the University of Michigan.
Dana Ponsly ’03 is a college counselor at The Ben Lipson Hillie Community High School in North Miami Beach, Fla.
Andy Alt and his wife Jamie welcomed their new baby Joshua Aaron on Sept. 4, 2008. Joshua joins his brother Sammy in the Alt home.
Abby Dawes ’04 is the director of college advising at Divine Savior Holy Angels High School in Milwaukee, Wis. She also married Mark Lemke on June 20, 2009.
Karen Gibson ’04 was promoted to the associate director of residence life at St. Edward’s University in Texas during the fall of 2008.
Megan (Comer) Hicks ’04 and Tom Hicks ’04 were married on June 14, 2008. She is the director of student activities for Cornell College in Mount Vernon, Iowa.
Lindsay Jarrett ’04 is an area coordinator for the University of Iowa.
Kristyn Bochniak ’05 and her husband Josh welcomed son Eli Bochniak on Friday, July 25, 2008.
Tiel Elviss ’05 accepted a placement in Kathmandu, Nepal with Voluntary Service Overseas to work with a coalition of 20 NGOs to lobby the Nepali government for more access to primary education.
Sarah Sunde ’05 is the associate director of orientation at James Madison University. Previously she was the coordinator of the University Program Board at JMU.

2000s
Tenniel Trolian ’05 is the assistant director of the Center for Student Involvement at Kent State University, working with the fraternity and sorority communities.
Melissa Ruud McGuire ’06 is the director of student success at the University of North Texas.
Jennifer (Main) Lambdin ’06 and her husband, Matt, welcomed daughter Emma Elisabeth, on July 6, 2008. Jennifer is the assistant director of Greek Life, student activities and leadership at Ohio Northern University.
Brooke Roberts working in Study Abroad at the University of South Dakota.
Kevin Thompson ’06 is the assistant director of operations and technology in the Office of Residence Life at Coastal Carolina University.
Sarah E. Barnes ’07 and Chris Orem ’07 were married in June 2009. They both are employed at James Madison University where she is the assistant director of orientation programs and he is a hall director.
Amy (Towner) Foust ’07 was married in August 2008. She is a hall director at Bowling Green State University.
Lindsay (Hansen) Jones ’07 is an academic advisor for Indiana University-Purdue University in Columbus, Ind.
Beth Jueche ’07 is the director of service learning at Walsh University.
Karen Shultz ’07 is the Testing Center coordinator at Owens Community College. Previously, she was the manager of Owens’ TEAP Project.
Shannon Spencer ’07 is the assistant director of annual giving at Bowling Green State University.
Lisa (Pettig) Thomson ’07 is the activities advisor at Newcomb Hall at the University of Virginia.
Julia (Metcalf) Zimmer ’07, who was married in September 2008, is the assistant director of student activities at the College of Wooster.
Carrie (Rosenbloom) Moran ’08 is an assistant director in the Center for Continuing Education in Myrtle Beach, S.C. She is responsible for conducting admission interviews, evaluating transfer credit, advising and registering new adult students and maintaining the center’s web pages and a variety of databases.
Natsuko Toyama ’08 is a Central American Team Leader with Magic Carpet Rides. The program offers gap-year experiences and is based in Antigua, Guatemala.