

GRADUATE COLLEGE INFORMATION & PROGRAMS

BGSU Graduate College

The Bowling Green State University Graduate College prepares graduate students for real-world challenges within a vibrant research-based, interdisciplinary and international graduate environment. Approximately 2,700 students are enrolled in 17 doctoral and 55 master's degree programs, along with one specialist and dozens of certificate programs across six academic colleges.

Our graduate students are engaged in professionally oriented programs that prepare them for successful careers or highly academic programs that lead to a life of research, scholarship and creative endeavors in and outside of higher education.

More than half of our graduate students are funded through scholarships and graduate assistantships that provide applied academic experience while working full-time on their degrees.

In addition to full-time education, many programs offer flexibility through part-time, weekend/evening and online/blended options.
