The College of Health and Human Services at Bowling Green State University has a recurring need for part-time instructors (adjuncts) in the following areas:

Communication Sciences and Disorders (e.g., introductory courses, clinical supervision of graduate students, disorders of speech, language, and hearing, etc.)

Criminal Justice (e.g. law enforcement, courts, corrections, juvenile justice, investigations)

Gerontology (e.g. introduction, mental health, applied social gerontology, LTC administration)

Public and Allied Health (e.g. medical laboratory science, microbiology, clinical chemistry)

Social Work (e.g. practice methods, human behavior, policy, interviewing)

A master’s degree in one of these areas or a closely related field is preferred. Relevant prior work experience may be considered in lieu of the master’s degree. Previous college teaching experience preferred. (Communication Sciences & Disorders applicants must have at least a master’s and relevant certification and licensure.) Detailed information on the College and Departments is available at http://www.bgsu.edu/hhs.

One-semester adjunct positions have start dates in August, January, and May, each year. Salary varies with teaching load and teaching experience. The initial contract is for one semester but could be extended subject to job performance, enrollment, and demand. Internal applicants are eligible to apply.

Applications must be e-mailed by July 1, 2015 to Barbara Carr at: carrb@bgsu.edu, and must contain: a letter of application (indicating which area is being applied for), a resume, and names and contact information for two references. E-mail attachments should be in Word or PDF format. An official transcript, indicating highest degree attained, and reference letters will be required at the time of employment. Finalists must consent to a routine background check.