Stereotypes and Diversity in Classic Board Games

a talk by

Terri Toles-Patkin, Ph.D

Professor of Communication
Eastern Connecticut State University

Thursday, Oct 4 | 1-2:30pm
Jerome Library 4th floor

Professor Terri Toles-Patkin's research program is eclectic, spanning time frames from prehistoric cave art to social media, and at present is focused on the examination of specific identity messages encoded in American board games of the mid-late 20th century. Patkin holds the B.A. from Arcadia University, and M.A. and Ph.D. from Cornell University. If she could invite five classic board game characters to dinner, she would include Miss Scarlet, Lord Licorice, Cavity Sam, Rich Uncle Pennybags, and the Mystery Date dud.