

Announcing
The Glanz Family Research Award for Interdisciplinary
Faculty Innovation and Collaboration at BGSU

Purpose

The intent of the donors of The Glanz Family Research Award for Interdisciplinary Faculty Innovation and Collaboration at BGSU is to provide awards that allow faculty members to pursue an interdisciplinary project. The total amount awarded will be in the $3,000–6,000 range.

Eligibility and selection criteria

To support projects of research, community engagement, curriculum development, or other appropriate topic that benefits the faculty, students, and university.

1. Both applicants must be a full-time faculty member within the fine/performing arts programs at Bowling Green State University.
2. An exception shall be made if one applicant works in the same field of study but at a different institution.

Application deadline: Monday, February 28, 2022

The following materials must be received by the announced deadline:

- Letter of proposal—one joint application for two faculty members, including the anticipated product of the collaboration, detailed budget, and the timeline for the project
- Current CV for each faculty member

Questions and emailed proposal submissions should be addressed to Charles Saenz csaenz@bgsu.edu, Associate Dean, College of Musical Arts. Applicants will be notified by the end of the academic year.
